Lawyers. When Results Matter.

For 40 years, the full-service law firm of Gallagher & Kennedy has built an exemplary reputation, not only for the results we deliver to clients, but also for our role as engaged corporate citizens. Our roots run deep in Arizona and the Southwest, with client relationships that extend across the United States and, in several cases, around the globe.

Our success comes from an unwavering focus on the needs of our clients and the talent and contributions of our attorneys and professional staff. We foster an environment of teamwork and collaboration that provides our clients with depth and breadth of knowledge on every legal matter.

“We used them because they are one of the best firms in Arizona, if not THE best. We want the best lawyers to be involved.”

We value client relationships over single legal transactions and choose to maintain a progressive, relaxed environment in place of the traditional, hierarchical law practice.

“The team at Gallagher & Kennedy is the best that I've ever used. They are well versed, thorough, and work effectively with the client to develop appropriate outcomes.”

Gallagher & Kennedy's reputation for excellence enables us to attract complex and often high-profile legal matters and clients ranging from Fortune 500 companies to small businesses and individuals. Our many longstanding relationships include Freeport McMoRan Inc., the Arizona Diamondbacks, and the Arizona Cardinals.

“I've been working with Gallagher & Kennedy since 1997 and have built strong, credible relationships with several of their environmental attorneys at this firm. They are quite knowledgeable about both state and Federal environmental regulations and for the most part directed my company and me in a good path going forward. I've recommended this firm to several new mining industry groups that have recently arrived in Arizona and I've always heard positive feedback.”
