Gallagher & Kennedy Announces its Newest Shareholder

PHOENIX, Ariz. (January 30, 2018) – The law firm of Gallagher & Kennedy is pleased to announce that Andrew E. Dudley has become the firm’s newest shareholder. His new position became effective January 1, 2018.

Since joining the firm in 2010, Andrew has advised some of the nation’s premier mining companies and trade associations regarding federal and state regulatory obligations. His practice focuses on hazardous waste management, administrative law, recycling, and remediation. Before joining Gallagher & Kennedy, Andrew worked at the U.S. Department of Defense and the U.S. Department of Energy in Washington, D.C., on federal environmental, health, and safety programs.

“Over the past 7 years Andrew has honed his skills to become a key member of the firm’s accomplished environmental team,” said Dean Short, Managing Partner. “I look forward to seeing his practice develop as he becomes a future leader within the firm.”
