

Gallagher & Kennedy

NATURAL RESOURCES

Gallagher & Kennedy's natural resources attorneys routinely represent clients in matters at all federal and state administrative levels. We serve clients in the agriculture, oil and gas, utilities, manufacturing, mining, mineral processing, and dairies and ranching industry sectors. Our attorneys handle matters dealing with air and water quality, water rights, wildlife, land reclamation, state and federal public lands, Native American lands and resources, and mined land. Our substantial expertise, relationships with regulatory agencies and experience at all levels of administration and governance enable us to provide efficient, effective and affordable representation to our clients.
