PRODUCTS LIABILITY

Gallagher & Kennedy handles products liability claims for a wide range of manufacturers and distributors on a local, regional and national basis. Our attorneys have worked in many industries to assist clients with all aspects of these types of liability matters, including pre-claim counseling and strategy, review and advice regarding product warnings and instructions, discovery, selection of expert witnesses, and trial and appellate proceedings.

The collective experience of the firm's attorneys extends to all types of consumer products, automobiles and other motorized vehicles and their component parts, aircraft (both fixed wing and rotor craft), medical devices and implants, blood products, and infrastructure products such as utility generation equipment and cable and wire.
