COVERAGE ANALYSIS AND LITIGATION FOR INSURANCE COMPANIES

Gallagher & Kennedy's insurance team includes seasoned litigation veterans who have successfully defended insurance company clients in individual and class action lawsuits and arbitrations alleging breach of contract and insurance bad faith.

Our attorneys review, analyze and consult with insurance companies in response to claims made under their insurance policies or against their insureds. Our experienced team of insurance attorneys analyzes the claim to help the insurance company client determine whether there is coverage and the extent of the insurer's legal obligations under the insurance policy.

We also advise insurance companies about the statutory and common law requirements applicable to their claims-handling practices. Our attorneys have substantial experience advising insurance companies on the appropriate way to respond to competing claims against a single policy, policy-limit demands, and a variety of other complicated claims scenarios.
